

Performance Commentary FOURTH QUARTER 2009

For the fourth quarter of 2009, the Fund returned -0.08%, underperforming the MSCI EAFE Index return of 2.22%.

The Fund's relative performance was helped the most by the following companies in the portfolio:

- The British copper company Antofagasta, whose stock returned more than 31% for the quarter. The company benefited from solid third-quarter results, better-than-expected cost control, and a strong balance sheet with increased cash on hand.
- Nissan Motor, whose stock rose more than 28% for the quarter. Nissan's business in China performed well, the company's second-quarter operating profits benefited from cost-cutting and the cash for clunkers program, and cuts in structural costs improved Nissan's balance sheet risks.
- The Norwegian energy company Statoil, whose stock gained more than 13% for the quarter.

The Fund's relative performance was hurt the most by the following companies in the portfolio:

- The British bank Barclays, whose stock declined more than -24% during the quarter. The bank was affected by expectations of loan losses and by weak third-quarter revenues driven by increased expansion costs in Europe and Asia.
- The Japanese manufacturing company Toyo Seikan Kaisha, whose stock lost more than -21% for the quarter.
- The Japanese company Toppan Printing, whose stock lost more than -15% for the quarter.

The Fund benefited the most from stock selection within the utilities, information technology, and consumer discretionary sectors. The Fund's relative performance was hurt the most by its stock selection in the materials, consumer staples, and industrials sectors.

As of December 31, 2009, Antofagasta, Barclays, Nissan Motor, Statoil, Toppan Printing, and Toyo Seikan Kaisha represented 1.0%, 1.3%, 1.4%, 1.8%, 1.0%, and 1.3%, respectively, of the Fund's portfolio. The composition of the Fund's portfolio is subject to change.

For the period reported in its current prospectus, the Fund's gross annual operating expenses totaled 2.63% of net assets. Until November 30, 2010, Domini has contractually agreed to waive fees and reimburse expenses to limit the Fund's expenses, on a per annum basis, to 1.60% of its average daily net assets representing Investor shares, absent an earlier modification by the Board of Trustees, which oversees the Fund. The Advisor waived certain fees payable by the Fund during the periods reported above and the Fund's average total returns would have been lower had these not been waived. Each Domini Fund charges a 2.00% redemption fee on sales or exchanges of shares made less than 30 days after the settlement of purchase or acquisition through exchange, with certain exceptions. See the Fund's current prospectus for further information.

SHAREHOLDER ACTIVISM

During the quarter, Domini filed seven shareholder proposals addressing human rights, sustainable forestry, toxic chemicals in consumer products, and three proposals on corporate political accountability at AT&T, Goldman Sachs, and JPMorgan Chase.

Domini is a founding member of the Global Network Initiative, a coalition of human rights organizations, investors, and companies opposing censorship and surveillance on the Internet. The corporate members include Google, Microsoft, and Yahoo. The Initiative made significant progress during the quarter as it moved toward establishing formal legal status and hiring an executive director. For the fifth year in a row, Domini co-filed a proposal with Cisco Systems, seeking to address that company's impact on human rights. The proposal received 34% support at the company's annual meeting in November.

PUBLIC POLICY In October, Domini's Managing Director and General Counsel took part in the second public meeting of the Securities and Exchange Commission's Investor Advisory Committee, where he is serving as the Committee's "social investor" representative.

That month, the SEC issued an important bulletin permitting shareholders to file proposals asking companies to disclose the risks they face from significant issues such as climate change and predatory lending.

PROXY VOTING

Each year, companies hold annual meetings and seek the views of their shareholders on a wide variety of issues. We express these views through "proxy votes." Domini was the first U.S. mutual fund manager to publicly disclose its votes, and we petitioned the SEC for the rule that now requires all mutual funds to publish their voting policies and actual votes.

During the fourth quarter, the Fund voted on 121 proposals at a total of 22 meetings and opposed management on 26% of the proposals presented.

BOARD ELECTIONS The Fund opposed management on 15 out of 49 proposals for the election of directors (31%) due to lack of independence and/or lack of gender diversity. The Fund opposed board slates at three companies because no women served on the board.

As of December 31, 2009, AT&T, Cisco Systems, Goldman Sachs, Google, JPMorgan Chase, Microsoft, and Yahoo were not held in the Fund's portfolio.

Investing internationally involves special risks, such as currency fluctuations, social and economic instability, differing securities regulations and accounting standards, limited public information, possible changes in taxation, and periods of illiquidity. These risks are magnified in emerging markets. The Fund's share price is denominated in U.S. dollars and generally will be exposed to foreign currency movements. In addition to other risks, the Fund will benefit when foreign currencies strengthen against the dollar and will be hurt when foreign currencies weaken against the dollar.

The composition of the Fund's portfolio is subject to change. The MSCI EAFE index is an unmanaged index of common stocks. You cannot invest directly in an index.
